How Do I Join?

It's easy to join the Conference of Consulting Actuaries. To be a candidate for any class of CCA membership you just need to demonstrate proficiency in actuarial science, attained through credentials from recognized exam-giving actuarial associations. The CCA's mandatory continuing education requirement ensures our members annually maintain their professional edge. Members self-certify annually on their dues statement as having met the CE requirements. Dues for CCA members remain the most affordable of any of the U.S. actuarial organizations. Best of all, the dues for the CCA are a direct investment in your professional development as a consulting actuary.

Where established and aspiring leaders learn, engage and excel through collaborative education and enriching communities.

The CCA Experience

Focus on Consulting: The Conference of Consulting Actuaries (CCA) is the only association fully dedicated to supporting the career success and unique business needs of consulting actuaries. The CCA has over 1,300 members worldwide who provide services in all actuarial consulting fields, including pension, health, life, casualty and emerging practices.

Connect with Established & Aspiring Leaders: The CCA is an organization where established and rising leaders of the actuarial consulting profession learn together, accelerate expertise and share insights through interactive communities of interest.

Interact & Learn with World-Class Education: The CCA advances our members’ careers and the actuarial practice overall through interactive education and networking opportunities offered in a collaborative environment of consulting actuaries.

Advance the Actuarial Practice: Joining the CCA is a direct investment in successful advancement of your professional development and expertise as well as the current and future health of our profession.

Share Insights: The CCA is the premier professional platform to grow your actuarial consulting career and give back to your profession and its next generation of leaders. Peer-to-peer learning and community are key to the membership experience.
Community and SIGs

Access to Answers: As a CCA member you are part of a community with active forums available for getting answers, sharing your concerns and ideas, and taking actions to help shape your practice area. CCA members can join the Communities and Special Interest Groups (SIGs), of their choice, which provides an open forum for the exchange of ideas through online discussions and conference calls.

- Emerging Leaders
- Healthcare
- Multi-Employer
- Pension
- Public Plans
- Smaller Actuarial Consulting Firms

Member Resources: As part of the CCA's general community you receive members-only access to several exclusive benefits for growing your practice including:
- A list of consultants willing to provide peer review for actuaries from other firms.
- A list of actuaries willing to conduct joint projects with actuaries from other firms.
- A list of consultants willing to mentor new consulting actuaries.
- Errors and omissions insurance, with discounts for firms with “best practices”.
- Engagement letter guidelines, peer review guidelines, and best practices to reduce or avoid litigation.

Conferences

Higher Caliber: The CCA's Annual Meeting is widely regarded as “The Premier Meeting for Consulting Actuaries,” addressing topics at the forefront of the profession and bringing together industry leaders across the country. The Enrolled Actuaries Meeting, managed by the CCA, is the largest continuing education and networking event of the year for Enrolled Actuaries.

Lower Cost: As a CCA member you qualify for the most favorable registration rates for our robust continuing education meetings and seminars. You will also have unique opportunities to network with other high-caliber actuaries and opinion leaders in the profession.

Advanced Learning

Learn More for Less: As a CCA member you receive significant discounts on high quality and convenient professional development opportunities.

- CCA members enjoy discounts on all CCA’s audio/webcasts that address timely and relevant topics, occurring on an almost monthly basis.
- CCA’s online tracking of your professional development is a convenient way to manage your compliance with the Qualification Standards and Joint Board for the Enrollment of Actuaries requirements.
